MANY ARE REJECTED

ONE OUT OF EVERY THREE TURNED DOWN FOR PHYSICAL DEFECTS

A NUMBER FILE CLAIMS

The Physicians Had Examined 140 at Press Time—To Examine 110 More Tomorrow.

Physical examinations of men called by the selective draft for the new national army began this morning at 7 o'clock and will continue until Thursday. There were a number of boys waiting for the examinations before the physicians and members of the local exemption board began their work.

One hundred and twenty men had been examined by the physicians, Drs. Frank Wallis, Karl Malotte, F. M. Ryan and C. E. Collins, up to noon today. Twenty more were examined this afternoon after which time the board went into session to go over the examination blanks and to make a record of those accepted and rejected.

Dr. Wallis estimated that one man out of every three was rejected on account of physical disabilities in the examination this morning. The principal defects were flat feet, underweight and eye-sight.

Claims for exemption were heavy, naturally so, according to the examining board, and many of the men who asked to be relieved on account of physical defects, dependents and the like, will be accepted and passed. There will be no allowance of exemption claims where there is the slightest belief on the part of the examiners that the man in question is eligible and fit.

Minor physical defect claims will be disregarded by the boards and passed on to the doctors in the army camps. In that way much time will be saved and many men who might unjustly be allowed to escape the draft will be held to their registration pledge.

County Clerk Yeomans, a member of the board, estimated that 90 per cent of the men accepted were filing exemption claims on the grounds that the drafted man is married and that his wife, children, or both, are dependent upon his earnings for support and industrial reasons.

A fee of 10 cents an examination, the total not to exceed $4 a day, is allowed by the government to the examining physicians.

According to instructions that have been received by Adj.-Gen. J. H. McCord, from Provost Marshal-General Crowder, no board will receive final credit on its quota for selected men until word has been received from the military authorities at the rendezvous or mobilization camp that the man has been accepted into the military service of the United States. Some men passed by the local board will be exempted or discharged on appeal by the district board, and some will be discharged by the district board for industrial reasons. Some will be rejected at mobilization camp. The number of persons passed by local boards who will be discharged by district boards or mobilization camps is tentatively estimated at about 10 per cent of those passed by the local boards.

Therefore, local boards should continue to call men up for examination, says the provost marshal-general, until they have apparently filled their quota with 10 per cent additional.

CHAUTAUQUA NEXT YEAR?

That Question Will Be Decided Today—Over 400 Tickets Have Been Pledged For.

A Chautauqua by the Redpath-Vawter system in Maryville next year will probably be decided before evening and efforts are being made now to get a sufficient number of guarantors to back next year's assembly. Over 400 pledges for tickets have been signed for, and 750 tickets are all that are necessary to be disposed of.

There is quite a sentiment for a Chautauqua next year but there are many who were guarantors this year who have stated they would not back it again.

LINDSEY'S LECTURE

JUDGE OF JUVENILE COURT TELLS "WHY BOYS LIE."

METHODS HE ADOPTED

In Overcoming Difficulties and Gaining Confidence of the Boy—War to Last Several Years, He States.

Fear of punishment, misdirected loyalty, parental indulgence and a fertile imagination are the many things which cause boys to lie, according to Judge Ben E. Lindsey in his able lecture on "Why Boys Lie," at the Chautauqua yesterday afternoon.

These, Judge Lindsey said, are some of the factors that make the problem of dealing with the boy law-breaker so difficult and he told the audience of the methods adopted by himself as judge of the juvenile court of Denver in overcoming these difficulties, and gaining the confidence of the boy.

The lecture covered a space of two hours yet there were no complaints about its length. It was filled with the human interest so lacking in the usual lecture and it appealed to young and old alike.

Judge Lindsey took up each of the factors mentioned and illustrated each with many stories from his own experience. He told how his court tried to teach the boys to fear to do wrong rather than to fear to get caught. As he expressed it, when a boy stole a bicycle, the old system tried to save the bicycle, while he tries to save the boy.

In speaking on the factor of parental indulgence, Judge Lindsey recommended firmness and kindness to parents but warned against the extremes of brutality and leniency.

The problem of dealing with the boy with the migratory instinct the speaker said, could be greatly simplified if the boy were allowed and even encouraged to run away. Of those who run away 99 out of every 100 come back, while under the old system only 10 out of the same number ever come back.

The grown criminal as well as the boy, Judge Lindsey maintains, can be dealt with better by sympathy and understanding than by harshness. He stated that 75 of every 100 in jail had been there before. We need the jail but we need something else, and that according to Judge Lindsey, is a system of "unseen chains," or honor system. He declared that of more than 700 convicts whom he had sent to prison alone and unattended, not one had tried to escape although restrained by nothing but his own sense of honor. At the same time, of those taken to prison under guard fifty-six escaped and were never captured.

During his address, Judge Lindsey touched upon the Ford peace expedition, of which he was a member, of Red Cross work, and of conditions in Germany which he witnessed himself. He gave it as his opinion that the present war would end only with the starvation of Germany, which would necessarily take several years.

Judge Lindsey admitted frankly that he is on the lecture platform to get funds to carry on the fight against the opponents of social and industrial justice who have forced him by various means to fight his place in twelve elections, which have returned him victor by ever increasing majorities.

AMERICA'S PART

IN 4 MONTHS GREAT PROGRESS FOR WAR HAS BEEN MADE.

NATIONAL ARMY READY

Regular Army and National Guard Fully Recruited—Many Things Done During That Time.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Entering today upon its fifth month of war, America found itself far advanced as a factor in overcoming Germany.

About four hundred thousand national guardsmen are in arms, ready to move into Southern camps, opening August 15, for intensive training. The regular army, gradually filled with volunteers, is only three thousand or four thousand short of its complete quota, while the American flag actually flies over European land and sea.

Pershing's division is rapidly shaping for actual trench service. American destroyers prow the U-boat zone, while scores of new destroyers are building. Other things that America has done, included the following:

Registered 10 million youths who are now being selected for the first national army of 687,000.

Seized ninety-one German ships, started repair work on all of them and actually put some into service.

Authorized without a dissenting vote a 7 billion dollar war credit.

Appropriated 750 million dollars for merchant shipping and 640 million dollars for airship construction.

Arranged to lend our allies 3 billion dollars and advanced more than half of it.

Sent a commission to Russia and France.

Began constructing thirty-two camps for soldiers.

Authorized and is enforcing embargo to keep food from Germany.

Launched great food conservation measures.

Gave 100 million dollars to the American Red Cross and 3 million dollars to the Y. M. C. A.

THE RAININTERFERES

WITH CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM LAST EVENING.

CLOSING DAY PROGRAM

Harvey Smith McCowan Lectures This Afternoon With Hawaiian Entertainment Tonight.

Dampness was the prevailing feature of last night's program at Chautauqua park, in spite of the fact that Miss Katherine Ridgeway gave a number of excellent readings. That is, the dampness is probably the thing most remembered by Maryville people this morning.

The program closed before ten o'clock but it was past midnight before the jitneys, busses and private cars had succeeded in transporting the flood sufferers to their homes. But in justice to the big Chautauqua tent let it be said that those who remained under its shelter did not get wet, as contrary to the usual custom of tents under such circumstances, the "big top" refused to spring a leak.

As stated before, Miss Ridgeway gave an excellent and varied program of readings in prose and poetry, and a large crowd was present to hear her. Miss Ridgeway is being featured as the "Queen of the Chautauqua platform" and she gave entire satisfaction here although forced to compete with the elements.

The pageant of the Junior Chautauqua was given at 7:45 o'clock under the direction of Miss Mabel McGill. About eighty-five children took part in the pageant which was entitled "The Rose Queen." Miss Mabel Raines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Raines, was the queen and Lois Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilbert, took the part of Rose.

The Queen and Rose each gave a solo and songs were sung by each of the following groups: Hunters, flower girls, rose fairies, white fairies, Brownies and green elves. The heralds and the Queen's pages also had a prominent part in the pageant. All who took part enjoyed a picnic this morning.

The program for today, the last day of the Chautauqua, is as follows:

Dr. Arthur Pierce Vaughn spoke this morning of "Central America in Revolution and Evolution."

In the afternoon the prelude was given by the Royal Hawaiians, and at three o'clock Harvey Smith McCowan spoke on "Kings and Queens—Crowned and Uncrowned."

In the evening those who delight in Hawaiian music will have an opportunity to hear the real thing, as played by a troupe of native Hawaiians. There will also be an illustrated lecture on "Rambling Through paradise," by Miss Mildred deLo Clemens, a cousin of the great literary genius of Missouri, Mark Twain.

COMMISSION'S PLATFORM

New Tax Board States Their Position
on Tax Matters—More From Tax Dodgers.

The State Tax Commission, charged with the enforcement of the revenue laws, makes its position on tax matters very plain. The Commission authorizes the following as a true statement of its position, and repudiates all or any other representations or misrepresentations:

"Lower rates of taxation for all, lower taxes for all who have been accustomed to paying; larger receipts from tax dodgers, and greater value in return for money spent.

"Besides lower rates and lower taxes, the Commission will vigorously enforce economy in expenditure and equity in collection.

"The increase of valuation which will follow assessment according to law—actual cash value in money—will be more than offset by reduction in rates. The Commission's aim, determination, and power will so lower all rates levied as to reduce the amount paid by those heretofore paying.

"The Commission insists that literal

TRUE VALUE FOR ASSESSMENT

Missouri Supreme Court's Latest
Opinion on How to Value Taxable Property for Assessment.

The latest expression from the Missouri Supreme Court touching the question of valuation of taxable property for assessment is found on pp. 886-7, Southwestern Reporter, issued under date of Feb. 7, 1917. The case is entitled Mercantile Trust Co. vs. Schramm, City Assessor, et al. The following is a pertinent extract showing the value at which property should be assessed:

"Our law provides a complete plan and scheme for the assessment and collection of taxes, an adequate means by which the burden primarily borne by the state and its subdivisions is transferred to the citizen. The prime and dominant idea of the scheme is furnished by the Constitution, and is that all property of the same class and value shall bear the same burden. While it is a matter of common experience that absolute equality in the imposition of taxes is not attainable, we nevertheless find an aim and intention on the part of our lawmakers to approximate to the idea of absolute equality as closely as the nature of the subject and the necessities of practical administration will permit. It is the uniformity of burden that the principle of uniformity in taxation is intended to accomplish, and whatever tends to foil this incurs the law's wrath. Discrimination, by whatever means induced, whether by different rates on the same values or the same rates on different values, seems within the inhibition. The state being subdivided, practical administration and the necessities of the case require that different rates be charged in different subdivisions in order to meet different local needs and conditions, and constitutional and statutory provisions for such different local rates are made. The principle of uniformity, however, requires that all property of the same class within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax be taxed at the same rate. A state tax must be apportioned uniformly throughout the state; a county tax throughout the county; and a municipal tax throughout the municipality. While provisions are made for different rates in different subdivisions and for local purposes, no provisions are to be found anywhere which authorize different standards or bases of valuation. It is evidently intended that the difference in the various local conditions shall be cared for by a difference in the rate and not otherwise.

"The law clearly and expressly requires that for the purpose of valuation all property in the state, regardless of where situated, shall be dealt with in the same manner. For this purpose of valuation, the law decrees uniformity and one standard throughout the state, and this without any regard whatever to local needs or difference in local conditions, for it ordains that all property, wherever situated, shall be assessed at its true value."

"SALLY-IN-A-HURRY" TO-NIGHT.

Is the Attraction at the Empire
Theatre This Evening.

One finds it difficult to understand how Wilfrid North, who directed the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, "Sally-in-a-Hurry," starring dimpled Lilian Walker which is at the Empire theatre tonight was able to get such a clever performance from the two animals seen in the film.

Both "Gasoline," the black and white cat who basks in the affections of all the players at the Vitagraph studios, and "Tige" the dog who is also a prime favorite, play important roles. In reality they are the best of friends and may be seen sleeping side by side in one of the studios at any time. In this production, however, they seem to be anything but friendly.

Convicts on Public Roads.

A working arrangement is being perfected by the State Highway Board and the State Prison Board which will make it possible for counties in Missouri to use convicts on the public roads to advantage. Necessary machinery and camp equipment will be provided and counties or civil subdivisions will be required to pay a flat rate per man employed. It is expected that the rate will not exceed $1.50 a day. This will include the cost of guarding and feeding all men in camp. There are several hundred able bodied convicts in the Missouri prison now available for road work. The State Highway Board favors the inauguration of the honor system in Missouri, patterned after methods used successfully in a number of other states. Convicts can be used to advantage in many counties in grading around bluffs or steep hillsides, in order to take roads out of creek bottoms, or in the operation of rock quarries and gravel pits. The use of convicts in road work will be found desirable in many counties where there is a scarcity of local labor.

WOMEN WHO FADE EARLY.

How often we hear the expression, "How she has faded!" or "Hasn't she grown old!" Her friends see it. Her husband sees it. She realizes it herself with a pang. Often she knows the reason, some female derangement has fastened itself upon her and makes it almost impossible for her to drag around from day to day. Such women should remember there is one tried and true remedy for their condition, and that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for more than forty years has been restoring women to health and happiness. Try it!

TRADING IN STOCKS.

Things a Man Must Know to Be a Successful Speculator.

"All those who are trading in the stock market might well ask themselves whether they are speculators or gamblers," says John K. Barnes in the World's Work. "Any one can gamble in stocks, but it is not profitable. It takes a high degree of specialized knowledge and training to speculate. Here are some of the complex requirements of technical knowledge that are indispensable to the successful speculator:

"He should know how to read the business barometers. Among these are the bank clearings throughout the country, which show the rapidity with which money is changing hands through the banks, and thus gives the best measure we have of the business doing; the unfilled orders on the books of the United States Steel corporation, our largest industrial company, which are reported ten days after the close of each month; railroad gross earnings, which are now reported weekly by some roads and monthly by all, and railroad net earnings, which show the prosperity in that important field; the production figures for coal, iron, copper, etc.; the export and import figures, which control our international credit position and have been of great importance since the war began; money rates and the elements that affect them—gold imports, foreign loans, etc., and probably, above all, he should watch carefully the crop prospects throughout the country.

"Unless a man understands the meanings of these things and has a very special and unusual temperament besides he can never succeed as a speculator."

In other words, the average man has no chance in the speculative markets.

MANSARD'S ROOF.

By It the Architect Won His Son's Life From Louis XIV.

The great hall of the Hotel de Ville of Paris, designed by Mansard, is the wonder and admiration of every one who has seen it on account of the groined roof.

In regard to this neighboring edifice tells a somewhat grim story. King Louis XIV, happened to be passing through the city just at the time Mansard was superintending the completion of his creation. The roof was supported by a powerful pillar. The monarch admired the work and congratulated the architect on his design. At that moment the architect was passing through great domestic tribulation. He had a son under sentence of death, so he thought it would be a good opportunity to intercede on behalf of the lad.

Mansard threw himself at the feet of the king and said: "Your majesty sees in the center that massive column? If you will spare the life of my son I will remove the unsightly pillar, and the roof shall stand without support." "Mansard," replied the king, "if you accomplish that miracle I will pardon your son, but if you fail I will hang you with him."

The architect removed the pillar without great difficulty and with the result desired. The architect is a philosopher, and he concludes his story with the reflection that had not Mansard's son been a scamp the hall at Arles would be just like any other hall—London Globe.

When the nation appeals to its women to register their loyalty and patriotism, could any woman, who enjoys the benefits and protection of that commonwealth, made possible only because her men for centuries past have been unquestioned all that life holds dear and even life itself to maintain the ideals of that nation, refuse to do her share?

I am proud of the privilege given me to be able to enlist on the "honor roll" for women. The great God of Hosts said of the armies of David, "but as his part is that goeth down to the battle so shall his part be that tarrieth by the stuff" and our chevrons of honor are here just as much as on the battlefields over-seas, if we are worthy of them.

I am glad to do my "bit" and appreciate any opportunity to be of service in this critical moment in the nation's history.

Women and Patriotism.

The women of Nodaway county should indulge in a talkfest all of this week. Talk registration. Talk it morning, noon and night, then go to sleep and dream about it, next morning get up and run to the neighbors before they have a chance to come to you and see if they have heard anything new, anything that they didn't understand before. Talk registration until every woman will be glad that Saturday the 11th is past and that she has done her patriotic duty.

All women know that they have been accused of talking a great deal but saying nothing. Let us have it different this week. See that we say something that counts every day, something convincing to at least one who is weak in the faith. Discuss the following questions and answers:

1. When shall I register? Are the women's polling places to be the same as the men's.

Answer. The women's polling places will not be the same as the men's. There will be registration booths at private residences in each ward and at the women's rest room. A full list of polling places will be published in the Democrat-Forum and Tribune.

2. Is the registration movement state or national?

Answer. The registration is a national movement. The registration day, however, is set by the governor of each state.

3. Will I endanger my job if I register?

Answer. Absolutely not. The government merely wants to know what you are doing and what you are able and willing to do.

4. If I register will I be compelled to do anything against my will? Is registration a draft?

Answer. No. The act of registration is a voluntary patriotic act and binds you to nothing.

Here is something Nat C. Spencer, secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Kansas City, said to the women there:

"You are asked to register next Saturday to show your willingness to render such service as lies in your power. Some women have much time they can give, others have little time, and perhaps some have no time at all, but every woman can show patriotism and sympathy by registering and agreeing to give such service as she can. Registration does not imply that you must leave your home if you are managing a household. It does not mean you should abandon your job if you are regularly employed. It means that in whatever condition you are placed you recognize the seriousness of the task our government has undertaken.

The registration card you will be asked to sign Saturday suggests 154 ways in which you can serve your country. A copy of it will be published in this paper. Look it over carefully, you will be surprised at the different things you might be able to do in an emergency.

In the meantime remember that you

Volumes have been written about the grandeur of Colorado scenery; the exhilaration of Colorado ozone; the general inspiration, mental and physical, of a Colorado vacation—and every word is true.

You can't exaggerate the pleasure and profit of a trip to Colorado.

Starting from Denver, you can take numerous automobile and trolley trips into the mountains, 14 of which can be made in one day each.

This beautiful city, capital and metropolis of the state, is an ideal headquarters for tourists.

IN MEMORIAM TO MRS. COOPER

Former Pastor Writes About Her Life For the Cameron Daily

The following in memoriam to Mrs. Bert Cooper was taken from the Cameron Daily News of August 4:
Irene K. Rutledge, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rutledge, was born May 2, 1892 at Chillicothe, Missouri. Was converted at the age of 12 and united with the Linneus Baptist church. In 1911 she graduated from the high school; in 1915 from the Missouri Wesleyan College, and went out from the institution leaving a record of honor and scholarship. She was married September 15, 1915, to Prof. A. H. Cooper, of Maryville, Missouri. Fell asleep in Jesus July 25, 1917. On July 26 a short service was held at the M. E. church by her pastor, Rev. Cox, following which the body was brought to Cameron and on Friday the 27th, loving hands bore it to its last resting place. Funeral was conducted from the Baptist church by Rev. G. T. Prewitt assisted by Rev. Cox. Interment in Graceland cemetery.

It seems so hard and all so strange that one so young and so splendidly equipped in mind and heart for useful service in church and home, should have been called away so early in life. She left us when the future was bright with promises for a noble career; when life was sweetest to her and to her devoted, but now bereaved, companion; and richest for all her loved ones, because of her presence and happy qualities of life.

Many and high were the hopes made for herself, and high and holy were the hopes cherished for her by her loved ones. She was ever ready to put her hands to the task, and uncomplainingly do her part, but that privilege she did not long have. She was promoted. God had for her some sweeter service, some nobler employment, that required separation from the limitations which entangle and bind us who still struggle in the conflict of life on earth. Whatever task, whatever employment engaging her life she is doing it well and with a complete devotion.

It was the writer's privilege to know the deceased thru a number of years. Having been her pastor, many times visited in her father's home and in turn she came to our home with thoughtfulness and helpfulness.

Her religious life and christian experience stand out as a living monument to her sacred memory. In her tender years at the age of thirteen years she gave her life to God and His Kingdom. With the family came to Cameron and with her brought her church letter and identified herself with the Cameron Baptist church, to which she was warmly devoted. As a christian she was loyal to her Savior and devoted with unalloyed faith to His service.

After her marriage, with her husband, she united with the M. E. church and to this body she gave the same unabated fidelity. She was given in all but 24 years in which to do her work, but they were far-reaching and useful years. Her life's day was so short but she wrought so well and so beautifully to the end which was radiant with triumphant victory.

The home life of this good woman occupied the second place in her life—she loved God supremely and best. Just as she was entering into the full strength and beauty of womanhood and motherhood she was called home. With her first-born her spirit went home to be with God.

Irene loved her home, when under parental love, and in her own home in Maryville, had joyous hopes as she was busy with the joys and cares of life, to make home happy, bright and useful.

This good woman has gone out from home and loved ones to return no more, for she now abides in the Eternal City of God. She shall be missed all the days that are to come, "But for her to die was gain. Bereaved ones mourn and sorrow fills their hearts. But if we lift our eyes to Jesus we shall see the hand that holds the rod and know that it is our Father's hand, who doeth all things well. He said, "I will not quench the smoking flax nor break the bruised reed." God is mindful of your darkened home and bowed spirit. He would not have you forget your companion, your daughter, sister, but to carry in your hearts sweet memories of her until you finish the course and go to meet her in the Glory land.

The church and community sustained a great loss in the going of this good woman. None feel the loss more keenly nor grieve so deeply as the bereaved husband for this heavy blow fallen upon his beloved home. To him and to both families in sorrow deepest sympathy is extended.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Our hope is for a better day when we shall meet again. Life here will be poorer without her, but Heaven will be richer with her, and every memory of her will provoke a

Kansas City Live Stock.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 6.—Cattle receipts dropped to 16,000 head today, market strong to 25¢ higher on killing cattle, top price $13.80, 25¢ to 50¢ higher on stockers and feeders. Hog receipts were 9,000, market, 10¢ to 15¢ higher, top $16.30. Sheep and lambs today 3,000, market strong, nothing choice, native lambs $14.00.

Killing Cattle.

The severe break in prices last week, and rains of a more or less general nature since the middle of last week, stopped loading for this week's market in large degree, hence the reduced supply, here and elsewhere. Native steers sold strong to 25¢ higher, numerous lots at $13.25 to $13.80, the top paid for long yearlings, highest price ever paid for baby beef here. Westerns sold 15¢ to 25¢ higher, receipts light, Kansas steers worth $8.75 to $12.25, Oklahomas $7.50 to $10.75, Old Mexico steers grazed in Oklahoma or Kansas $6.50 to $8.25. Butcher cattle got the full advance, some sales more than a quarter higher. Receipts included 9 cars of California steers, at $8.35 to $9.25, weights 875 to 1,050 pounds.

Stockers and Feeders.

Prices touched bottom last week and around 28,000 cattle were sent to the country, 10,000 more than during previous week, and twice as many as same week last year. Stock steers at $6.00 to $7.50, feeders $7.25 to $9.75 were current quotations last week, but these were revised upward 25¢ to 50¢ per cwt. today on the strength of reported rains around, and light supplies.

Hogs.

Dry weather sent in a large amount of trash last week, and the spread in prices widened greatly. Best hogs sold 10¢ to 15¢ higher today, but there is still little improvement in common hogs. It is figured that the rains will stop the run of common hogs. Choice heavy weights are scarce, and the right kind would have gone above $16.30 today, medium weights selling up to $16.20, light hogs at $14.75 to $15.75. Every Western market is running behind this time a year ago in receipts, and the large number of immature hogs sent forward lately hurts prospects for future supplies some, though many of the pigs will be immunized at the plants around the stock yards and resold as stock hogs.

Sheep and Lambs.

Recent declines have put native lambs down to $14.00, but choice Westerns would bring a quarter more at least. Ewes direct from the range brought $9.30 today from killers, and some Western breeding ewes, a mixture, one to five years old, sold at $12.50, 101 pounds average. Light receipts are scheduled for all fall, and it is hoped the market for fat stock will improve. Feeding lambs sell for as much as fat ones, or a little more.

GRAHAM ITEMS.

MANY ARE REJECTED

ONE OUT OF EVERY THREE TURNED DOWN FOR PHYSICAL DEFECTS

A NUMBER FILE CLAIMS

The Physicians Had Examined 140 at Press Time—To Examine 140 More Tomorrow.

Physical examinations of men called by the selective draft for the new national army began this morning at 7 o'clock and will continue until Thursday. There were a number of boys waiting for the examinations before the physicians and members of the local exemption board began their work.

One hundred and twenty men had been examined by the physicians, Drs. Frank Wallis, Karl Malotte, F. M. Ryan and C. E. Collins, up to noon today. Twenty more were examined this afternoon after which time the board went into session to go over the examination blanks and to make a record of those accepted and rejected.

Dr. Wallis estimated that one man out of every three was rejected on account of physical disabilities in the examination this morning. The principal defects were flat feet, underweight and eye-sight.

Claims for exemption were heavy, naturally so, according to the examining board, and many of the men who asked to be relieved on account of physical defects, dependents and the like, will be accepted and passed. There will be no allowance of exemption claims where there is the slightest belief on the part of the examiners that the man in question is eligible and fit.

Minor physical defect claims will be disregarded by the boards and passed on to the doctors in the army camps. In that way much time will be saved and many men who might unjustly be allowed to escape the draft will be held to their registration pledge.

County Clerk Yeomans, a member of the board, estimated that 99 per cent of the men accepted were filing exemption claims on the grounds that the drafted man is married and that his wife, children, or both, are dependent upon his earnings for support and industrial reasons.

A fee of 10 cents an examination, the total not to exceed $4 a day, is allowed by the government to the examining physicians.

According to instructions that have been received by Adj.-Gen. J. H. McCord, from Provost Marshal-General Crowder, no board will receive final credit on its quota for selected men until word has been received from the military authorities at the rendezvous or mobilization camp that the man has been accepted into the military service of the United States. Some men passed by the local board will be exempted or discharged on appeal by the district board, and some will be discharged by the district board for industrial reasons. Some will be rejected at mobilization camp. The number of persons passed by local boards who will be discharged by district boards or mobilization camps is tentatively estimated at about 10 per cent of those passed by the local boards.

Therefore, local boards should continue to call men up for examination, says the provost marshal-general, until they have apparently filled their quota with 10 per cent additional.

CHAUTAUQUA NEXT YEAR?

That Question Will Be Decided Today—Over 400 Tickets Have Been Pledged For.

A Chautauqua by the Redpath-Vawter system in Maryville next year will probably be decided before evening and efforts are being made now to get a sufficient number of guarantors to back next year's assembly. Over 400 pledges for tickets have been signed for, and 750 tickets are all that are necessary to be disposed of.

There is quite a sentiment for a Chautauqua next year but there are many who were guarantors this year who have stated they would not back it again.

LINDSEY'S LECTURE

JUDGE OF JUVENILE COURT TELLS "WHY BOYS LIE."

METHODS HE ADOPTED

In Overcoming Difficulties and Gaining Confidence of the Boy—War to Last Several Years, He States.

Fear of punishment, misdirected loyalty, parental indulgence and a fertile imagination are the many things which cause boys to lie, according to Judge Ben B. Lindsey in his able lecture on "Why Boys Lie," at the Chautauqua yesterday afternoon.

These, Judge Lindsey said, are some of the factors that make the problem of dealing with the boy law-breaker so difficult and he told the audience of the methods adopted by himself as judge of the juvenile court of Denver in overcoming these difficulties, and gaining the confidence of the boy.

The lecture covered a space of two hours yet there were no complaints about its length. It was filled with the human interest so lacking in the usual lecture and it appealed to young and old alike.

Judge Lindsey took up each of the factors mentioned and illustrated each with many stories from his own experience. He told how his court tried to teach the boys to fear to do wrong rather than to fear to get caught. As he expressed it, when a boy stole a bicycle, the old system tried to save the bicycle, while he tries to save the boy.

In speaking on the factor of parental indulgence, Judge Lindsey recommended firmness and kindness to parents but warned against the extremes of brutality and leniency.

The problem of dealing with the boy with the migratory instinct the speaker said, could be greatly simplified if the boy were allowed and even encouraged to run away. Of those who run away 99 out of every 100 come back, while under the old system only 10 out of the same number ever come back.

The grown criminal as well as the boy, Judge Lindsey maintains, can be dealt with better by sympathy and understanding than by harshness. He stated that 75 of every 100 in jail had been there before. We need the jail but we need something else, and that according to Judge Lindsey, is a system of "unseen chains," or honor system. He declared that of more than 700 convicts whom he had sent to prison alone and unattended, not one had tried to escape although restrained by nothing but his own sense of honor. At the same time, of those taken to prison under guard fifty-six escaped and were never captured.

During his address, Judge Lindsey touched upon the Ford peace expedition, of which he was a member, of Red Cross work, and of conditions in Germany which he witnessed himself. He gave it as his opinion that the present war would end only with the starvation of Germany, which would necessarily take several years.

Judge Lindsey admitted frankly that he is on the lecture platform to get funds to carry on the fight against the opponents of social and industrial justice who have forced him by various means to fight for his place in twelve elections, which have returned him victor by ever increasing majorities.

AMERICA'S PART

IN 4 MONTHS GREAT PROGRESS FOR WAR HAS BEEN MADE.

NATIONAL ARMY READY

Regular Army and National Guard Fully Recruited—Many Things Done During That Time.

Washington, Aug. 7.—Entering today upon its fifth month of war, America found itself far advanced as a factor in overcoming Germany.

About four hundred thousand national guardsmen are in arms, ready to move into Southern camps, opening August 15, for intensive training. The regular army, gradually filled with volunteers, is only three thousand or four thousand short of its complete quota, while the American flag actually flies over European land and sea.

Pershing's division is rapidly shaping for actual trench service. American destroyers prow the U-boat zone, while scores of new destroyers are building. Other things that America has done, included the following:

Registered 10 million youths who are now being selected for the first national army of 687,000.

Seized ninety-one German ships, started repair work on all of them and actually put some into service.

Authorized without a dissenting vote a 7 billion dollar war credit.

Appropriated 750 million dollars for merchant shipping and 640 million dollars for airship construction.

Arranged to lend our allies 3 billion dollars and advanced more than half of it.

Sent a commission to Russia and France.

Began constructing thirty-two camps for soldiers.

Authorized and is enforcing embargo to keep food from Germany.

Launched great food conservation measures.

Gave 100 million dollars to the American Red Cross and 3 million dollars to the Y. M. C. A.

THE RAIN INTERFERES

WITH CHAUTAUQUA PROGRAM LAST EVENING.

CLOSING DAY PROGRAM

Harvey Smith McCowan Lectures This Afternoon With Hawaiian Entertainment Tonight.

Dampness was the prevailing feature of last night's program at Chautauqua park, in spite of the fact that Miss Katherine Ridgeway gave a number of excellent readings. That is, the dampness is probably the thing most remembered by Maryville people this morning.

The program closed before ten o'clock but it was past midnight before the jitneys, busses and private cars had succeeded in transporting the flood sufferers to their homes. But in justice to the big Chautauqua tent let it be said that those who remained under its shelter did not get wet, as contrary to the usual custom of tents under such circumstances, the "big top" refused to spring a leak.

As stated before, Miss Ridgeway gave an excellent and varied program of readings in prose and poetry, and a large crowd was present to hear her. Miss Ridgeway is being featured as the "Queen of the Chautauqua platform" and she gave entire satisfaction here although forced to compete with the elements.

The pageant of the Junior Chautauqua was given at 7:45 o'clock under the direction of Miss Mabel McGill. About eighty-five children took part in the pageant which was entitled "The Rose Queen." Miss Mabel Raines, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Raines, was the queen and Lois Gilbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gilbert, took the part of Rose.

The Queen and Rose each gave a solo and songs were sung by each of the following groups: Hunters, flower girls, rose fairies, white fairies, Brownies and green elves. The heralds and the Queen's pages also had a prominent part in the pageant. All who took part enjoyed a picnic this morning.

The program for today, the last day of the Chautauqua, is as follows: Dr. Arthur Pierce Vaughn spoke this morning of "Central America in Revolution and Evolution."

In the afternoon the prelude was given by the Royal Hawaiians, and at three o'clock Harvey Smith McCowan spoke on "Kings and Queens—Crowned and Uncrowned."

In the evening those who delight in Hawaiian music will have an opportunity to hear the real thing, as played by a troupe of native Hawaiians. There will also be an illustrated lecture on "Rambling Through paradise," by Miss Mildred E. Lo Clemens, a cousin of the great literary genius of Missouri, Mark Twain.

COMMISSION'S PLATFORM

New Tax Board States Their Position
on Tax Matters—More From Tax Dodgers.

The State Tax Commission, charged with the enforcement of the revenue laws, makes its position on tax matters very plain. The Commission authorizes the following as a true statement of its position, and repudiates all or any other representations or misrepresentations:

"Lower rates of taxation for all, lower taxes for all who have been accustomed to paying; larger receipts from tax dodgers, and greater value in return for money spent.

"Besides lower rates and lower taxes, the Commission will vigorously enforce economy in expenditure and equity in collection.

"The increase of valuation which will follow assessment according to law—actual cash value in money—will be more than offset by reduction in rates. The Commission's aim, determination, and power will so lower all rates levied as to reduce the amount paid by those heretofore paying.

"The Commission insists that literal

Facts About State University.

Thirty-three thousand acres in what is now Jackson county formed a part of the two townships originally set aside by Congress for the University of Missouri. Almost 8,000 acres—7,512 to be exact—were within the present limits of Kansas City. All this land, now worth 70 or 80 millions of dollars, was sold by the state in 1831 for $70,000.

Forty other universities and colleges have followed the example of the University of Missouri and have founded schools or departments of journalism.

Seventy-four of the 208 members of the faculty of the University of Missouri of the rank of instructor or higher hold Doctor of Philosophy (Ph. D.) degrees, the highest given by any university or college for work done in course. Fifty others have Master of Art (A. M.) degrees.

TRUE VALUE FOR ASSESSMENT

Missouri Supreme Court's Latest
Opinion on How to Value Tax-
able Property for Assessment.

The latest expression from the Missouri Supreme Court touching the question of valuation of taxable property for assessment is found on pp. 886-7, Southwestern Reporter, issued under date of Feb. 7, 1917. The case is entitled Mercantile Trust Co. vs. Schramm, City Assessor, et al. The following is a pertinent extract showing the value at which property should be assessed:

"Our law provides a complete plan and scheme for the assessment and collection of taxes, an adequate means by which the burden primarily borne by the state and its subdivisions is transferred to the citizen. The prime and dominant idea of the scheme is furnished by the Constitution, and is that all property of the same class and value shall bear the same burden. While it is a matter of common experience that absolute equality in the imposition of taxes is not attainable, we nevertheless find an aim and intention on the part of our lawmakers to approximate to the idea of absolute equality as closely as the nature of the subject and the necessities of practical administration will permit. It is the uniformity of burden that the principle of uniformity in taxation is intended to accomplish, and whatever tends to foil this incurs the law's wrath. Discrimination, by whatever means induced, whether by different rates on the same values or the same rates on different values, seems within the inhibition. The state being subdivided, practical administration and the necessities of the case require that different rates be charged in different subdivisions in order to meet different local needs and conditions, and constitutional and statutory provisions for such different local rates are made. The principle of uniformity, however, requires that all property of the same class within the territorial limits of the authority levying the tax be taxed at the same rate. A state tax must be apportioned uniformly throughout the state; a county tax throughout the county; and a municipal tax throughout the municipality. While provisions are made for different rates in different subdivisions and for local purposes, no provisions are to be found anywhere which authorize different standards or bases of valuation. It is evidently intended that the difference in the various local conditions shall be cared for by a difference in the rate and not otherwise.

"The law clearly and expressly requires that for the purpose of valuation all property in the state, regardless of where situated, shall be dealt with in the same manner. For this purpose of valuation, the law decrees uniformity and one standard throughout the state, and this without any regard whatever to local needs or difference in local conditions, for it ordains that all property, wherever situated, shall be assessed at its true value."

"SALLY-IN-A-HURRY" TONIGHT.

Is the Attraction at the Empire
Theatre This Evening.

One finds it difficult to understand how Wilfrid North, who directed the Vitagraph Blue Ribbon feature, "Sally-in-a-Hurry," starring dimpled Lillian Walker which is at the Empire theatre tonight was able to get such a clever performance from the two animals seen in the film.

Both "Gasoline," the black and white cat who basks in the affections of all the players at the Vitagraph studios, and "Tige" the dog who is also a prime favorite, play important roles. In reality they are the best of friends and may be seen sleeping side by side in one of the studios at any time. In this production, however, they seem to be anything but friendly.

Irene K. Rutledge, eldest child of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Rutledge, was born May 2, 1892 at Chillicothe, Missouri. Was converted at the age of 13 and united with the Linneus Baptist church. In 1911 she graduated from the high school; in 1915 from the Missouri Wesleyan College, and went out from the institution leaving a record of honor and scholarship. She was married September 15, 1915, to Prof. A. H. Cooper, of Maryville, Missouri. Fell asleep in Jesus July 25, 1917. On July 26 a short service was held at the M. E. church by her pastor, Rev. Cox, following which the body was brought to Cameron and on Friday the 27th, loving hands bore it to its last resting place. Funeral was conducted from the Baptist church by Rev. G. T. Prewitt assisted by Rev. Cox. Interment in Graceland cemetery.

It seems so hard and all so strange that one so young and so splendidly equipped in mind and heart for useful service in church and home, should have been called away so early in life. She left us when the future was bright with promises for a noble career; when life was sweetest to her and to her devoted, but now bereaved, companion; and richest for all her loved ones, because of her presence and happy qualities of life.

Many and high were the hopes made for herself, and high and holy were the hopes cherished for her by her loved ones. She was ever ready to put her hands to the task, and uncompromisingly do her part, but that privilege she did not long have. She was promoted. God had for her some sweeter service, some nobler employment, that required separation from the limitations which entangle and bind us who still struggle in the conflict of life on earth. Whatever task, whatever employment engaged her life she is doing it well and with a complete devotion.

It was the writer's privilege to know the deceased thru a number of years. Having been her pastor, many times visited in her father's home and in turn she came to our home with thoughtfulness and helpfulness.

Her religious life and christian experience stand out as a living monument to her sacred memory. In her tender years at the age of thirteen years she gave her life to God and His Kingdom. With the family came to Cameron and with her brought her church letter and identified herself with the Cameron Baptist church, to which she was warmly devoted. As a christian she was loyal to her Savior and devoted with unalloyed faith to His service.

After her marriage, with her husband, she united with the M. E. church and to this body she gave the same unabated fidelity. She was given in all but 24 years in which to do her work, but they were far-reaching and useful years. Her life's day was so short but she wrought so well and so beautifully to the end which was radiant with triumphant victory.

The home life of this good woman occupied the second place in her life—she loved God supremely and best. Just as she was entering into the full strength and beauty of womanhood and motherhood she was called home. With her first-born her spirit went home to be with God.

Irene loved her home, when under parental love, and in her own home in Maryville, had joyous hopes as she was busy with the joys and cares of life, to make home happy, bright and useful.

This good woman has gone out from home and loved ones to return no more, for she now abides in the Eternal City of God. She shall be missed all the days that are to come. "But for her to die was gain. Bereaved ones mourn and sorrow fills their hearts. But if we lift our eyes to Jesus we shall see the hand that holds the rod and know that it is our Father's hand, who doeth all things well. He said, "I will not quench the smoking flax nor break the bruised reed." God is mindful of your darkened home and bowled spirit. He would not have you forget your companion, your daughter, sister, but to carry in your hearts sweet memories of her until you finish the course and go to meet her in the Glory land.

The church and community sustained a great loss in the going of this good woman. None feel the loss more keenly nor grieve so deeply as the bereaved husband for this heavy blow fallen upon his beloved home. To him and to both families in sorrow deepest sympathy is extended.

"Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord." Our hope is for a better day when we shall meet again. Life here will be poorer without her, but Heaven will be richer with her, and every memory of her will provoke a prayer of thanksgiving for her Christian character and noble womanhood; and her loyalty to her Master in whose fadeless light she walks now and evermore.—R. M. W.

Kansas City Live Stock.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Aug. 6.—Cattle receipts dropped to 16,000 head today, market strong to 25c higher on killing cattle, top price $13.80, 25c to 50c higher on stockers and feeders. Hog receipts were 9,000, market, 10c to 15c higher, top $16.30. Sheep and lambs today 3,000, market strong, nothing choice, native lambs $14.00.

Killing Cattle.

The severe break in prices last week, and rains of a more or less general nature since the middle of last week, stopped loading for this week's market in large degree, hence the reduced supply, here and elsewhere. Native steers sold strong to 25c higher, numerous lots at $13.25 to $13.80, the top paid for long yearlings, highest price ever paid for baby beef here. Westerns sold 15c to 25c higher, receipts light, Kansas steers worth $8.75 to $12.25, Oklahoma $7.50 to $10.75, Old Mexico steers grazed in Oklahoma or Kansas $6.50 to $8.25. Butcher cattle got the full advance, some sales more than a quarter higher. Receipts included 9 cars of California steers, at $8.35 to $9.25, weights 875 to 1,050 pounds.

Stockers and Feeders.

Prices touched bottom last week and around 28,000 cattle were sent to the country, 10,000 more than during previous week, and twice as many as same week last year. Stock steers at $6.00 to $7.50, feeders $7.25 to $9.75 were current quotations last week, but these were revised upward 25c to 50c per cwt. today on the strength of reported rains around, and light supplies.

Hogs.

Dry weather sent in a large amount of trash last week, and the spread in prices widened greatly. Best hogs sold 10c to 15c higher today, but there is still little improvement in common hogs. It is figured that the rains will stop the run of common hogs. Choice heavy weights are scarce, and the right kind would have gone above $16.30 today, medium weights selling up to $16.20, light hogs at $14.75 to $15.75. Every Western market is running behind this time a year ago in receipts, and the large number of immature hogs sent forward lately hurts prospects for future supplies some, though many of the pigs will be immunized at the plants around the stock yards and resold as stock hogs.

Sheep and Lambs.

Recent declines have put native lambs down to $14.00, but choice Westerns would bring a quarter more at least. Ewes direct from the range brought $9.30 today from killers, and some Western breeding ewes, a mixture, one to five years old, sold at $12.50, 101 pounds average. Light receipts are scheduled for all fall, and it is hoped the market for fat stock will improve. Feeding lambs sell for as much as fat ones, or a little more.

IN HONOR OF JUDGE HAYWORTH.

Birthday Surprise Dinner Given Sunday on His 71st Birthday.

A birthday surprise dinner was given Sunday in honor of Judge Samuel Hayworth of Barnard. The event celebrated his seventy-first birthday. Fifty guests were present. Mr. Hayworth was born in the state of Iowa on August 5, 1846. He came to Nodaway county in 1868.

Judge Hayworth was taken to Barnard by M. A. Gray while the crowd gathered. At 11:30 o'clock he returned to find a host of relatives waiting to extend to him greetings and best wishes.

A fine dinner was served after which music was furnished by Mrs. Mart Moody and Miss Cleo Gray, pianists.

res; Clinton Duff and Mrs. Edith Carey, violinists.

Judge Hayworth is in good health, and as spry as a man of fifty regardless of his advanced age. Just before the guests left they asked the Judge to play the violin and to play those old pieces they all loved to hear of which only an old timer can sound the true melodies.

Those present at the dinner were: Judge Pleas Schmidt and family, W. A. Hayworth and family, M. A. Gray and family, H. L. Groves and family, L. L. Moore and family, Mart Moody and family, George Colvin and wife, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Young, Clinton Duff, Samuel Hayworth, Jr., Mrs. Edith Carey.
